ABOUT ME

I am a third-year Computer Science student from Poland, currently livng in Porto, Portugal, during a gap year to gain professional experience. I am open to full-time remote positions or on-site roles in Porto, Portugal. I have a passion for low-level and backend programming, with proficiency in Python, C#, C++, Java, JavaScript, and PHP (visit my website and GitHub). I also enjoy working with Linux and geographic data.

Beyond coding, I am an active member of the "Microbiology in Environmental Engineering" student research club and a skier for the Gdańsk University of Technology team.

Fluent in English and Polish, I am eager to continue developing my skills while contributing to a dynamic team.

EXPERIENCE

C# Developer, Navigator

August 2023 - now

"Spitsbergen Challenge" - students' scientific expedition to the Arctic.

- I'm a leader of the team working on the main task of the project - creating an educational web game.
- I'm the only developer of the game from the IT side - using C# and Godot.
- During the expeditions in field I'm primarily responsible for planning trekkings and navigating.

Math and Informatics Teacher

October 2022 - now

Own Buisness

- I teach students during individual lessons, both on-side and remotely.
- I find my own clients and manage the growth of my business.

Course Creator

November 2023 - February 2024

MaturaIT

- Created two full online courses on C++ programming and Microsoft Office Excel to help students prepare for high school exams.
- Developed detailed course plans and created original exercises for each topic.

Public Speaker

October 2022 - now

Microbiology in Environmental Engineering

- Delivered several public speeches in both Polish and English at scientific conferences, popular science events, and COST Action meetings.

Wine Maker

August 2022 - September 2022

Château du Moulin-à-Vent

- Assisted in grape harvesting and supported the wine production process in the winery.
- Gained experience of working abroad, in the multicultural enviroment, with an international team.

Organizer - referee service

October 2018, October 2019

Harpagan Extreme Orienteering Challenge

- Part of the referee team, responsible for starting participants and managing their check-in at the finish line.
